Electronic Publishing of PhD Theses in GUPEA

GUPEA, Gothenburg University Publications Electronic Archive, is the full-text archive at Gothenburg University.

This document contains instructions for "e-spikning" / e-publishing of PhD theses. Assistance in connection with the registration is given by Digital Services at Gothenburg University Library via email: gup@ub.gu.se or telephone: 031-786 6671

Substantive questions or questions regarding the review in general have to be put to the respective department or Faculty Office.

Login information for GUPEA is sent in an email to the PhD student

Subject reads: GUPEA: E-spikning av doktorsavhandling/E-publishing of doctoral thesis.
Please contact Digital Services if you have not received this email.

In order to implement "e-spikning" / e-publishing, you must have access to your thesis and abstract sheet as pdf documents. Note that the digital pdf version must be the exact same version as the printed version of your dissertation.

Your registration in GUPEA will be reviewed by the institution and faculty office and electronic publication will be made the same day as you make public your printed version, normally three weeks ahead of the public defence.

University of Gothenburg administers an Agreement on electronic publishing.

Once you have logged in, you find your thesis registration form under Unfinished Submissions. Click Open and then Edit to complete registration.

Describe this item

First describe your thesis in two steps. On each page, click Next to save the information you have filed and move on.

You can always choose to go back and change the already completed tasks. You can save the item and continue at another time. If you are logged out or you close your web browser, the item is saved and you can continue the next time you log in to GUPEA.

Enter in step one:

1. Author
2. Email to author: optional
3. Thesis title is already filled, but check that it is correct
4. Institution: select from list
5. Series Data: only if the thesis is part of a series
6. ISBN identifier: optional. But if chosen, the printed version and the digital (pdf) version should have different ISBN identifiers. It is appropriate to submit both ISBN in both versions of the thesis. You can choose to identify the digital version with the GUPEA handle-link, e.g. hdl.handle.net/2077/xxxxx
7. Articles: for a compilation thesis, a doctoral thesis with previously published articles or manuscripts, register the bibliographic citations. Please see instructions below under Register articles.
8. Thesis language: select from list, language of the main content of the item

Register articles

Please note, this section applies only to compilation theses.

All articles should be listed as references, even if they are versions such as Submitted Only, or In Manuscript.

One reference per box. For more boxes click Add More.

Articles issued with journal publisher should have link to the full-text. A requirement is that the article has a Digital Object Identifier, DOI. When available, a PubMed identifier is sufficient, PMID.

Identifier should be included in the reference as follows ::doi::10.xxxx/xxxxxxx

Exemple DOI ::doi::10.1037/0012-1649.43.5.1156

Exemple PMID ::PMID::8057110

Agreement for electronic publishing

University of Gothenburg administers an agreement regarding electronic publishing. In this step, please read the text and then take a position on the agreement.

The agreement is also available at: <http://www.ub.gu.se/publicera/epublicering/avtal/>

If you choose to accept the registration agreement, I Grant the License, your submission is now complete and you cannot make any changes to the input data at this stage.

Submission Complete

The thesis will follow the workflow that applies to your faculty or institution. If the administrator rejects the registration, you will be notified via email on details of the additions or changes needed.

The thesis is publicly available three weeks before your disputation/public defense.

When your Thesis is submitted in GUPEA it must be registered in GUP

GUP, Gothenburg University Publications, is the publications database at University of Gothenburg. All documents published with affiliation to an institution at the University are to be registered, for statistical purposes. Declared by University Chancellor §9, 14-02-2014
